Internal Hardware

ToneCore Programmer Dock

There are two circuit boards within the ToneCore Programmer Dock: The Main board, and the Intermediate board. The Main board is identical in every respect to the Main board in the standard Stereo ToneCore Dock. The Intermediate board is different than a standard Stereo ToneCore Dock due to the USB interface. A description of the elements on the boards is shown below, along with the differences that would be found on a Mono ToneCore Dock.